

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The image sensing device or image processing apparatus has a synthesizing capability enabling the device or apparatus to perform blur control using a specified amount of blur and to prepare a blur-controlled image, as well as a blur-controlled image processing capability enabling the device or apparatus to carry out processes other than blur control on the prepared blur-controlled image and to change the degree of processing in accordance with the amount of blur.

10520-9784600